

8th international exar-conference, Berlin (G) 7th-10th October 2010

In cooperation with the Free University, Berlin (G)

Central topic of the conference was „Experimental Archaeology and Universities“.

Evening program at Thursday, 7th October 2010:

First meeting for participants, Luise Restaurant-Biergarten, Berlin.

Conference program at Friday, 8th October 2010:

Welcome

PD. Dr. Gunter Schöbel - exar-President

Welcome

Prof. Dr. Wolfram Schier, Berlin

Experimental Archaeology and Universities

Experimental archaeology at the University and research

Prof. Dr. Mamoun Fansa

Caution !

„Hands on activities“ for 29 years in the students program “Experimental Archaeology” at the University Vienna

Ass.Prof.Mag.Dr. Alexandra Krenn-Leeb, Mag. Wolfgang Lobisser, Mag. Mathias Mehofer, Wien

Experimental archaeology at the University Exeter

Structure and case studies

Julia Heeb, Berlin

Children-University Tübingen and the experiment

PD. Dr. Gunter Schöbel

Long night of science

Archaeology and public communication at the Institute for Prehistory, Free University Berlin

Jessica Kuhn, Berlin

Archaeology by experiment and education

The case of Archaeological Museum in Biskupin, Poland

Dr. Wojciech Piotrowski, Anna Grossman M.A., Biskupin

Experimental Ship archaeology at the Humboldt University, Berlin

Timm Weski, München

Closing the gap of knowledge by experiment

Prof. Dr. Clemens Eibner, Heidelberg

The research centre for experimental archaeology in Mayen / Vulkaneifel

Remarks on the interdisciplinary networks

Michael Herdick, Mainz

Long term experiments in experimental archaeology

Long term project Forchtenberg

Prof. Dr. Wolfram Schier, Berlin

Usage of (re)construction of the prehistoric houses for education in the days of living archaeology in Kernave (Lithuania 2009-2010)

Virginija Rimkute, Vilnius

Phoenix from the ash

A late Bronze age longhouse

Ulrike Braun, Hitzacker, Mag. Wolfgang Lobisser, Wien

Meeting in Museum village Düppel, guided tour and exchange of experiences

Conference program at Saturday, 9th October 2010:

New results in experimental archaeology

The experimental cast of Bronze Age swords

Michael Siedlaczek M.A., Berlin

Early medieval war in experiments

Reflection on the application of primary and secondary weaponry in the Viking Age

Philipp Scheide B.A., Berlin

The sofa of the kings

The performance of Celtic metal workshops

Markus Binggeli, Bern

Tracking the Celtic minter

An interdisciplinary research project

Stefanie Osimitz, Adliswil, Kathrin Schächli, Andelfingen

Reconstruction of a well in Stone Age park Albersdorf

Ina Fraatz, Hamburg, Sophie Müller, Hamburg

Energy-saving wickerwork walls in the Bronze Age

Irene Staeves, Gelnhausen

In the cooking pot of Apicius

Roman art of cooking in the ancient period

Thomas Martin, Riegelsberg

Teeth prints in stone age birch pitch

How could it be preserved so long?

Dieter Todtenhaupt, Berlin

Weaving like in ancient Peru

A lace from the collection of the University Erlangen and its reconstruction
Dr. Claudia Merthen, Erlangen

The Stone age aero phone

Flutes or shepherd's pipe?
Dr. Jean-Loup Ringot, Hambergen

Looking for the bone scraper for the processing of hides

Markus Klek, Titisee-Neustadt

Experiment with a funeral pyre

Dr. Jan Graefe, Jana Hugler M.A., Claudia Pingel M.A., Mettmann

The archaeological centre in Welzow

Dr. Hans Joachim Behnke, Welzow

General meeting of EXAR members
Meeting in the Institute for Prehistoric Archaeology, Berlin

Excursion at Sunday, 10th October 2010

Gathering at the New museum (Neuen Museum), Museumsinsel Berlin
Guided tour Prof. Dr. Matthias Wernhoff